

Xing
presents

RAUM
programme
autumn 2017

Xing's space in Bologna, Raum, restarts its activities from the 14th October with a calendar of special projects, productions and hospitality events running up until December 2017. Masters in the field of live arts research, this autumn Raum will host the work of ten selected artists and groups, drawn from a network of collaborators and arts research organisations active across Italy. As is the case with acts that involve the transfiguration of a real space, the ten performances in the programme, through sound/narrative/visual constructions, will introduce us to many different singular worlds, generated by the expressive sensitivity of these leading talents from the world of contemporary production. For us, these emerging artistic personalities, overlooked by most well-known trends, represent an inexhaustible effort to evoke a reality that is still fabulous and super-relational, foreseen and sought after beyond the confines of the banal that marks the contemporary world.

With: Canedicoda/Roberta Mosca (I), Jasmine Guffond (AUS/D), Orthographe (I), Aine O'Dwyer (IRL/UK), Floris Vanhoof/ Lieven Martens Moana (B), Sara Manente/Christophe Albertijn (I/B), Native Instrument (N/AUS/D), Peter Mills (UK/S), Enrico Malatesta/Attila Faravelli (I), Tom Johnson (USA/I).

Raum, Xing's headquarters in Bologna, is a space dedicated to the support of contemporary cultural production. Its challenge is primarily aimed at Italian artists who meet and collaborate, often for the first time, solicited by unusual production occasions; while international artists are invited to present brilliant works from the panorama of contemporary creation, introducing materials and experiences that facilitate the circulation of ideas.
